

CONCERNING THRIFT

Doing without things is not real thrift. Genuine Thrift is careful buying. One cannot practice thrift unless one buys things. One does not call a miser thrifty. To thrive one must husband his resources; but need not hoard them.

The prosperity of the Nation requires that everyone shall buy the things he or she needs; so that all industries shall be active. Personal thrift builds up one's individual prosperity, and is best expressed by careful selection of things needed for one's comfort and happiness, and securing them at their fair prices. The miser is useless to the community. The thrifty person is an asset to the Nation.

This store's daily endeavor is to supply thrifty people with the best goods in every grade at the most moderate prices.

SPENT MOST OF HER TIME IN BED

Vancouver Woman Was So Weak She Could Hardly Move When She Began Taking Tanlac.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was so weak I could scarcely move," said Mrs. A. Feldman, of 607 Union St., Vancouver, B.C., "but now I am feeling just fine. For a whole year I had been ill, and about three months before I got Tanlac I got in an awful condition. I could scarcely eat anything, and what little I did force down bloated me until my heart palpitated frightfully, and I would get so dizzy I could scarcely stand up. At times I was nearly desperate with headaches, terrible pains racked my whole body, and at one time the small of my back hurt me so bad for several days I thought I would go distracted. I got to where I couldn't sleep well, and the least little noise would throw me into a miserable nervous condition for hours. I finally got so weak I couldn't do my housework, and was obliged to spend most of my time in bed."

"Although it seemed that everything possible was done for me, I couldn't get relief, and finally as a last hope I told my husband to get me a bottle of Tanlac. I took the first bottle my headaches were gone, and five bottles made me feel like a new woman. I eat anything I want, now and just as much as I want, without the least trouble, and all the pains have disappeared, and my housework is a real pleasure. Tanlac certainly deserves the highest praise and I never get tired of talking about it."

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE OVER GRAND TRUNK

Prime Minister Clarifies the Situation by Making Clear Statement in House.

Ottawa, April 29.—The respective position of the government and the Grand Trunk executive and shareholders was made clear in the very first statement issued by the prime minister when the house met Tuesday. From this it is clear that after patient and trying to induce the company to complete its part of the arrangement for the arbitration and handling over of the road, the government does not propose to stand any further delay for any cause. The complaints and misrepresentations being made in the morning street for some weeks past were exposed and refuted and notice served that the government would have no more dealings with the present executive. That this will be a shock and humiliation to those affected is undoubted, but it has been coming for some time and did not come without warning.

TO TAKE OVER ROAD
What is plain, is the road must be handed over at once. The time of the arbitration may be extended. The directors must resign to be succeeded by appointees of the government, who will control the management without reference to, nor consultation with the shareholders. The company will be represented by the subsequent arbitration proceedings by a shareholders' committee, constituted by the present directors. This places the issue squarely and there is absolutely nothing further for the company to do but consent. No further assistance in financing will be given by the government until the above arrangements are effected.

TIME FOR SHOW DOWN
The statement will clarify the situation and will give to the English shareholders some information with regard to the manner in which the financing has been conducted, of which they are apparently in need. It effectively exposes the efforts being made by officials of the road in London to spread the impression that the government has been dealing unfairly with British investors. The government has already financed the road far beyond its contracted obligations, a fact which even the leading financial journals and critics of London have either ignored or misrepresented, but the time has come for a show down.

GERMANY LIKELY TO FLOAT LOAN
AND PAY ALLIES

Will Make New Proposals in Effort to Stave Off the Allies Occupation.

Paris, April 29.—The Temps today publishes a dispatch under a Cologne date the giving what purports to be propositions which the newspaper says Germany will make to the Allies. According to the Temps, Germany proposes to pay to the Allies 3,000,000,000 gold marks during 10 years, and also yearly payments equal to one-fifth of the value of German exports to Allied countries during the preceding year.

In order to realize a part of the above indemnities, says the dispatch, Germany proposes to issue an international loan of 10,000,000,000 gold marks, upon which she is prepared to pay interest at 5 per cent. The earnings and also by participation up to 20 per cent in German private industries. Germany then would be ready to discuss the total of its debt to the Allies, according to the dispatch.

Germany also will offer reparations in kind, saying German contractors and labor would undertake to reconstruct a certain percentage of the work in Northern France, and also that German industry would supply French owners whose property was destroyed, with materials, which would be paid by bonds which the government of Germany would deliver to French owners.

The Temps in commenting on the dispatch, says: "Berlin is convinced that the propositions would be rejected by the Allies, but insist on presenting them publicly, hoping that a certain part of opinion abroad will consider them sufficient to bring pressure to bear upon the Allies not to occupy the Ruhr region."

CANADA LED WAY
IN INTERNATIONAL
RED CROSS WORK

It is not generally known that the first Red Cross peace work of the "international nature was done by Canada, that is a fact. It was during a recent week that Canada staged a big drive for funds on behalf of the Imperial War Relief fund, what developed into an event of British magnitude in relief of distress and disease throughout the war-torn areas of Europe. The result: Canada was the subscription of $200,000. This was the first united British Empire war relief work, and it is claimed by its proponents that the conception of a world-wide league of Red Cross Societies was the natural outgrowth of "this drive."

Also, since the Armistice, and this time under the patronage of the League of Red Cross Societies, the Canadian Red Cross has sent into Roumania a Canadian nursing mission consisting of 15 graduate nurses, whose high mission is to teach in that country modern nursing methods. The mission has the entire and enthusiastic approval of the Roumanian Red Cross, and it is under the distinguished patronage of the Queen of Roumania. The mission in charge is Miss Dorothy Cotton, a graduate of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. It was organized under the direction of Madame Pantazzi, a native of Toronto, who is married to a Roumanian officer. This circumstance is related to show the Red Cross is already busy uniting the race in the closer bond of assistance to those in need throughout the world.

At home the Canadian Red Cross is busy with its program of public health training, and the secretary reports that all the courses are being pointed out by the society are meeting with capacity attendance, and that some of those who would like to take the classes have to be disappointed. It is pointed out that this work is supplemental to that of district nurses in educating the public to the necessity of doing as requested by the district nurses.

The Red Cross membership drive will not be put on before June, but at that time a nation wide appeal is to be made to enlist every adult, and child in the ranks of the society.

FORTY MILLIONS ARE INVESTED IN ALBERTA MINES

The Average Number of Men Working During Past Year Was 9,588

Ottawa, April 29.—The province of Alberta figured prominently before the coal committee of the house yesterday morning, when Hon. J. L. Cote, minister of mines of that province, appeared before the committee to discuss the coal situation in Alberta. He presented a paper giving a detailed history of the coal fields of the province, and also a paper giving the statistics of the coal industry in Alberta. The average number of men working during the year, 1920, was 9,588; the average days of idleness per miner, 100; the approximate value of capital invested in equipment in active mines, $46,119,000, and in abandoned mines, $19,000,000. The majority of the mines abandoned were from lack of market, but in three it was due to being worked out. There were no labor troubles to speak of.

The amount of coal sold in 1920 was as follows: Steam bituminous, 3,272,863 tons, of which over two and a half million tons were to railways; domestic fuel, 3,065,500; anthracite, 31,504; briquettes 101,693. The possible production with present equipment and labor was 9,500,000 tons, which increased labor would increase to 121,000,000. The amount of coal imported into the western provinces was 4,456,758, mostly bituminous.

TRANSPORTATION COST
The transportation cost to Winnipeg, 331 miles from Edmonton, is six mills per ton mile; eight to Saskatoon and four to Vancouver, or about $4.90 per ton to Winnipeg.

The getting of cars when the mines were working was often very difficult, owing to the demand for grain haulage at the same time. Mr. Cote stated that to extend the market, water transportation would be necessary, and this might be secured at a cost of about $20,000,000 spent on making a channel six feet deep by 150 feet wide in the Saskatchewan river. This would reduce the rate to Winnipeg to one and one-half mills per ton mile. This would also be of great service to the cities en route, such as Saskatoon, Prince Albert and to the mines of Northern Manitoba.

In regard to labor, he showed that in 1912 the average amount of coal raised was 554 tons per man, while in 1920 it was 675. The wages paid in 1920 amounted to $119,310,066, the cost per ton for labor being $3.03, equal to two-thirds of the total cost of production. The total cost at pit mouth was $5.65.

Full wage scales and tables were placed on record, examples of increases quoted being as follows: 1912, $2.88 for a 10-hour day; 1920, $7.38 for an eight-hour day. Alberta coal could be marketed in Winnipeg about $2.12 per ton less than American.

Mr. Cote detailed the efforts being put forth by the Alberta government to secure the Manitoba business.

CROSSROADS

Despite the condition of the roads, the lecture and concert held at the school house on April 28th was a very decided success.

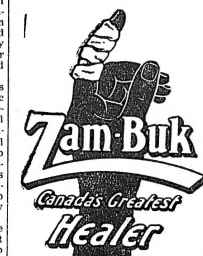

The lecture by L. M. Gaetz was very instructive as well as interesting, the pleasure of his inimitable wit alone making the bravery of bad roads justifiable.

Owing to an epidemic of bad colds, we were obliged to drop some very good numbers from our program, but some of our visiting talent kindly contributed to the concert.

It was unanimously decided that other things beside oats have dropped to pre-war prices, when we can listen to a dollar lecture, a seventy-five cent concert, and enjoy a fifty cent tea, all for thirty-five cents.

EVARTS

After having received a preliminary welcome in the form of a charivari, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stanforth gave a most enjoyable time in the school-house on Friday, April 15. Despite the bad condition of the roads, a large crowd assembled to again shake hands with Arthur and to meet his bride, who won the admiration of all present by her charming personality. The school room was prettily decorated for the occasion, and dancing commenced about 10 o'clock. Mrs. L. Coughlin, and Mr. Tobin's lively music, while Mr. S. Pennington acted as M.C., kept the guests for some time. Mr. L. Coughlin was loudly applauded for his song dancing, whilst Mr. Scott Hustie had to respond with an encore to his song, "Foolish Questions." The entire company then sang "For They're Jolly Good Fellows," and the three cheers and tiger which they gave the married couple proved that the roof was very solid and firmly nailed to the walls. The light fantastic was then resumed until the early hours, when everyone there felt that this was one of the most successful and enjoyable dances held in Everts for some time, and they take this opportunity of wishing Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stanforth much happiness in their new life and of thanking them for a splendid dance.

WILL FUEL OIL FAULT

One scarcely realizes the huge industrial structure we are building on our faith in the inexhaustibility of fuel oil until some fact came to light suggesting the coming end of that supply. Transportation, manufacture, farming, if suddenly deprived of this fuel, would collapse. If gradually deprived of it, or faced with a steady rise in market price, which has been the case for some time, all these lines of enterprise must shrink or shift to some as yet undeveloped source of power.

It appears that the United States, for instance, has already reached the peak of its fuel oil production. During the past sixty years that country has furnished two-thirds of the mineral oil of the world, and while still the greatest oil producing country, they consume three-fourths of entire world's product. Though in 1919 the United States produced three hundred and seventy-six million barrels, this was less than they consumed. Of Mexico's eighty million barrels the United States used sixty million.

When that country's new shipping program is complete, their merchant marine and navy will use two hundred million barrels annually, it is claimed. At the present rate of increase in the production of motor vehicles, it is estimated that by 1925 the United States will be using eight hundred million barrels for automobiles alone. This is more than the entire world's supply now.

Much is hoped for from the great discoveries in the far north country, and the undeveloped oil fields of Alberta. But the expense in connection with these oil fields is very heavy. These supplies will prolong the life of oil driven power, but promise no cheaper power.

It may as well be taken for granted that we have seen the end of cheap mineral oil, just as we have seen the end of cheap lumber and cheap land. Oil is a fixed quantity. Oil wells, it is found, are almost as quickly exhausted as lumber forests. Systematic and sustained effort must soon be made to develop an effective and economic fluid fuel as fuel oil supplies decline.

IN THE INTEREST OF GOOD ROADS

J. D. McPherson, of the firm of McPherson Bros., successors to the Day Hardware Co., returned to Red Deer yesterday morning from a trip to the south. During the past week Mr. McPherson has been engaged in putting on a demonstration of the Russell line of road machinery at Lethbridge. This demonstration was well attended by government and municipality road foremen from the southern part of the province. The large attendance was due principally to the efficient management and careful arrangements of Mr. E. Alnoworth, Inspector of Public Works, who acted on behalf of the government in connection with the demonstration.

McPherson Bros. are the Alberta sales agents for the entire line of Russell road machinery, including graders, road finishers and drag scarifiers. Fresno, slash scrapers, elevating graders, gravel loaders, etc. The demonstration resulted in a substantial order being placed by the government. In the near future, as soon as the condition of the roads permit travelling, McPherson Bros. hope to call on the municipalities adjoining Red Deer in connection with their requirements for road machinery. More Russell machines are sold in Saskatchewan than all other makes combined. This is the first year they have been introduced into Alberta, and they promise to become as popular here as they are in Saskatchewan.

IT CARRIES THE NEWS OF YOUR DISTRICT

It is encouraging to note the constant efforts that are being made by the Calgary Herald to make the residents of this city and the surrounding towns and rural districts of Alberta. The contact that it has established cannot but be beneficial to every citizen in the community. The Herald is publishing country news in commendable volume these days, and it is a matter of record that the city people are finding this matter quite as interesting as those more closely concerned. It is also noted that The Herald pays attention daily to the news of the United Farmers of Alberta and this news is presented accurately and without any coloring. Mr. H. W. Wood, the head of the U.F.A., figures in the Herald news probably as much as any other individual in the province, not of course as a personal matter, but as the spokesman of the great agrarian body.

"UNCLES AND AUNTS" PLAY AT PENHOLD

Amateur Theatrical Performers Deserve Great Credit for Successful Comedy Attraction

The company of well known amateur actors, led by J. R. W. Teasdale, who put on the "Uncles and Aunts" play in the Community Hall, Penhold, on Friday, April 15, deserve great praise for the highly creditable performance they gave. The performers will be well advised to reproduce their efforts in other towns, and should be given a cordial reception if they decide to come to Red Deer. The full cast of performers was as follows:
Henry Rawley, an irritable old gentleman—Rev. J. S. Orton, Innisfail.
Robert Rawley, Henry's jolly brother—J. R. W. Teasdale, Red Deer.
Reginald Rawley, their nephew—B. Hives, Penhold.
Fred Curton, Reginald's great friend—T. Hives, Penhold.
Zekeiah Aspen, the goat—Aubrey Wood, Penhold.
Butler, the butler—Rev. J. S. Orton.
Mary Marley, Reginald's sweetheart—Mrs. J. R. W. Teasdale, Red Deer.
Nelly Marley, Fred's sweetheart—Mrs. P. P. Parsons, Penhold.
Mrs. Wade, Mary's and Nelly's aunt—Mrs. Duncan, Penhold.
Miss Aurora Rawley, Henry's and Robert's sister—Mrs. E. Hives.
Jane, the pretty maid—Mrs. E. Hives.

THE STORY

Henry Rawley is a man of money, with a favorite nephew, Reginald. Mary Marley is in love with Reginald, but Uncle Henry is strongly opposed to the marriage. Mary resorts to subterfuge and gets Mr. Aspen to impersonate Uncle Henry. Mr. Aspen is a very interesting character, whose love fluctuates between Mary Marley, who has little use for him, and Miss Aurora Rawley. Mary's plot is discovered, however, and Mary accompanied by her cousin Nelly, proceed to Uncle Henry's home in the hope that they can overcome his objections. There they see Henry's brother Robert by mistake and unfold their story to him. They find him a very zealous, likeable fellow. Robert does not enlighten them regarding his identity, but gives consent for the marriage. All goes well till Henry unexpectedly arrives at the Marley home. Robert uses his wiles to win Henry over. A regular mixup ensues over relationships, uncles, aunts, nephews and nieces, with Robert Rawley the benevolent friend of all. The scene closes with everybody happy. Henry gives his consent and they all live happy ever after.

THE PRESENTATION

The star actor of the performance was Aubrey Wood as Zekeiah Aspen. His make-up was fine. He kept the audience convulsed with laughter from start to finish.

J. R. W. Teasdale was a decided success as Robert Rawley. He gave a fine impression of the good-natured, kindly uncle, always ready to do a good turn. Rev. J. S. Orton was particularly successful as the butler, but he also made a good Uncle Henry.

Mrs. Teasdale had the leading lady's part, and gave a good presentation of her role. The team work of Mrs. Teasdale and Mrs. Parsons was good; both of these ladies carried their parts very nicely. Mrs. E. Hives did well in her dual role. The work of the Hives brothers as the dashing lovers was also very satisfactory. As a company of amateur actors they would be hard to beat.

Following the play a liberal lunch was served, and the floor was cleared for dancing, which continued until nearly train time. The G. W. V. orchestra, of Red Deer, supplied the music, and also played between the acts.

WHEN next you come to Calgary visit the home of The Herald and see for yourself just how a daily paper is made.

OUR Circulation Department will take real pleasure in conducting you through our modern plant and in showing you the different processes that enter into the making of a big daily paper.

WE will take you through the busy Editorial rooms with their clicking telegraphic and typewriting machines, where the news of the day is collected and made ready for the printed page. A step will take you among the most human linotype machines that change the news into type. You can follow the made-up pages into the stereotyping room where marvelous machines and expert workmen cast the pages into leaden plates. Watch these plates taken by automatic carriers to the big 50-ton press, which reels off the printed paper complete faster than the eye can count.

SEE the mailing machines at work, stamping each paper with the subscriber's name and address—see the carrier and street boys scrambling for their papers, and the big trucks pushing The Herald to post and express offices, for distribution throughout the west.

IT will be an interesting visit, and after you see the army of skilled employees, the costly equipment and the huge outlay of capital and expense necessary to produce a big daily paper, you will wonder that you buy it at the price you do.

EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS LIQUOR PROFIT

Attorney-General Estimates Volume of Business Done by Government Druggists, Wholesale Houses, Bootleggers and Others.

The total profits from the sale of liquors in the province of Alberta for the year 1929, including profit by the government, druggists, doctors, bootleggers, operators of illicit stills and others, amounted to a grand total of $7,973,427, as estimated by the attorney general's department. This information was given to the house by Hon. J. R. Boyle, attorney general, in introducing for a second reading the bill amending the Liquor Act. During the course of his long and interesting speech, the attorney general dwelt on the various elements which made it difficult to enforce the law under present circumstances.

Points in the Bill

Heavy increases in fines.
Taking away liquor prescription privileges from drug stores for six months and one year on first and second offences respectively.

Preventing drug stores from starting business under a new name after being fined.

Providing that the drug store will come under the provision of the act in the case of the owner or any of his assistants violating the act, thus preventing the proprietor from averting that he gave his employees instructions not to sell liquor.

The minimum fine for a druggist convicted to be $400.00 and the maximum $1,000.00.

Interesting Figures

In the course of his address in introducing the bill the attorney general gave the house a great deal of detailed statistics regarding the liquor traffic in the province, both legal and otherwise. Over five hundred doctors used prescription forms during 1929 in the province. They issued 131,163 or an average per doctor of 88 per month. It is estimated that, at a charge of $2.00 they received $1,063,236.00. The government's actual profit was $811,389.27, the druggists' profit $258,074.83. The police estimate that the bootleggers made $1,779,000.00 and the operators of illicit stills $1,140,000.00.

Great Difficulties

Mr. Boyle emphasized the fact that the police were under great difficulties in the enforcement of the liquor act. One of the chief causes was the disposition of the general public not to report violations of the act, but to help cover them up. The man who bought a bottle of whiskey from a bootlegger was more likely to protect him than report him. He said that the fact was in the nature of a criminal act. He drew a parallel between the disposition of the people on this act and the act against such as murder or robbery. If a man was robbed he went right to the police, his neighbor even helping him, but such was not the case when the liquor act was broken. In the other criminal cases the victim considered that he had been done personal injury.

Declared Ultra Vires

He said that the enforcement had been easier in 1919 than 1928, when the importation was again allowed. The attempt of the legislation to do away with warehouses had been declared ultra vires by the courts. In the warehouses of the province, estimated to contain millions of dollars worth of liquor, lay one of the chief obstacles of the enforcement of the law. The provincial police got little help from the public and in some instances not much from the municipal police. There had been convictions against two chiefs of police for bootlegging and one mayor of a town. In the case of the chiefs, they had been kept on in their positions by the citizens. The police, he said, often got letters from bootleggers, giving information about others of their ilk, in order that they themselves might not be under suspicion.

THE LOST PATROL

Into the land of wild desolation,
Into the land of the white, frozen north;
Following the trail that duty has shown them,
The patrol of the Mounties went gallantly forth.
Little they dreamed of the horrors before them;
The wolf of the north with his white fangs laid bare
Crept close on their trail, and the blizzards swept o'er them,
But the Mounties are men trained to do and to dare.

Over the pathless waste of the barrens,
Never a landmark to serve them as guide,
They sang as the snow-clouds came whirling about them,
And laughed in the face of the foe they defied.

Dull were the days, no sunlight to greet them;
The frost stung their lungs and they struggled for breath;
While the wolf of the north crept steadily near them,
And over them hovered the shadow of death.

Grimly they fought on, starving and freezing;
The rifts closed about them, they stumbled and fell;
Then the wolf spirit sank in the snow on its haunches
And raised to the heavens its shuddering yell.

There in the moonlight the search party found them,
Silent and wrapped in their blanket of snow;
No more would they answer the voice of a comrade,
Or feel the cold touch of their merciful foe.

And now, at McPherson, the heroes are sleeping,
No more to awake till the last trump shall roll;
Down through the ages, then from the northland
Shall rise in their glory the lost patrol.
—Nora K. McGrandia.

THE PRINTER AND HIS PAPER

An aggressive country weekly can make a community, or lack of it break a community. It can lift a struggling neighborhood up to prosperity. It is the tie that binds the home, church and school together. This is the opinion of A. W. Hopkins of the Department of Agricultural Journalism of Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

"Once established, the country weekly can be of great assistance in making a live community," he says. "Backing all the valuable and worthwhile social or business enterprises is a regular part of its duties. Many a people has been built because of the help given by the local newspaper."

"Familiarity" with its readers is the foundation for the success of the country weekly," says Mr. Hopkins. "Printing a record of all births, marriages, deaths, and the various fortunes of its readers will help make a place for itself in the homes of its readers."

When people want to interest distant friends in their home town they send away copies of the local paper. When anyone wants to know what kind of a place a distant town is, he sends for a copy of the local newspaper.

When the merchants are full of courage and advertise freely, an impression is created among the many people living outside of town who see the paper that this is a wide-awake little business town. If at times the merchants let up a little on their advertising, the town does not look so good to outsiders.

In supporting the home paper, therefore, you not only get the local and business news, but you can help all civic causes, you are enabled to participate to the fullest extent of its life, and you help the town exert influence and create a favorable impression outside—Successful Farming.

MCCORMICK'S JERSEY CREAM SODA BISCUITS

THE WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. G. D. Armstrong

A man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.—Isa 32.

Our text reflects the conditions obtaining in the land where it first found utterance. In order to appreciate the truths of the Bible we need to understand the life which it records. Very many of the difficulties which people have had in interpreting the thought of the Bible is due to their ignorance of these conditions and to our very matter-of-fact, prosy way of thinking.

The land of Israel was situated on the highway between the two great empires of Egypt and Assyria, and in all ages has been the battle ground of contending forces.

The political policy of Israel vacillated between alliances with either of these great empires, some of the politicians favoring an alliance with Assyria, while others thought that the way to safety lay in union with Egypt.

The policy of Israel was radically different. To his mind the way of safety and progress for the nation lay not in engaging alliances but in a strict independence. Freedom was to be found not with the aid of military power but in the moral character of the people. "Trust ye in the Lord Jehovah, for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength."

There is something startling in the figures which the prophet uses to express his thought of God's care for His people. He likens God to a lion guarding His prey while a band of helpless shepherds cover before the king of beasts. So God will guard Jerusalem, utterly ignoring the band of political schemers who would dictate the policy of the nation. Again he likens God to the mother-bird as it flutters about its nest, sheltering the lives of its offspring. This figure has prophetic significance as we recall the words of Jesus, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that stonest the prophets and killest those sent unto thee; how often would I have gathered thee as a hen doth her brood."

In these two striking figures in the preceding chapter the prophet sets forth the essential qualities of God's keeping power—strength and tenderness; the strength of the king of beasts; the tender care of the mother-bird.

Our text sets forth more clearly the internal conditions which will obtain within the life of the nation itself. "Princes shall reign with justice." Very slowly we are learning today that the real guarantee of national prosperity lies in the moral character and religious faith of the people. The surging unrest of our age is due to the awakened desire for the organization of the lives of men and nations in harmony with the principles of justice.

Without expressing any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the parties concerned in the lawsuit which looms so largely in the public mind in this community at the present time, we have no hesitation in saying that maladministration of justice on the part of the legal profession, or of the police, or of those in high authority, would do more to undermine the common good than the presence in our midst of an army of criminals.

The foundations of Empire are grounded in righteousness.

After all, the matter finally resolves itself into a question of the character of individual citizenship, and no more satisfactory ideal can be given than in the words of our text. As a shelter from the storm, as an oasis in the desert, as a flowing, life-giving stream in the wilderness, a man shall protect, inspire and enrich the lives of his fellow-men. In the midst of changing ideals, amid the storms of passion of prejudice and selfishness, no higher duty can be found than in arresting the drift of debasing, degenerating tendencies. "The longer on this earth we live, And weigh the various qualities of men, Seeing how most are fugitive Or fitful gifts at best of now and then, Wind-waved, corpse-lights, daughters of the few, The more we feel the high, stern, old, devotedness to duty, Steadfast and still; not fed with mortal praise; But finding ample recompense For life's ungarlanded expense In life done squarely and unwavering days."

No better epitaph than this could be desired. "He made faith in goodness easy to his fellow men."

Society needs in its midst men and women whose honesty, purity and up-right character gives them a saving and enlightening quality. And not less do we need the sympathy, protecting interest which will shield the lives of others from the blasting blighting winds of thoughtless slander or malicious gossip.

As we look back through the ages we do not wonder that men have found a fulfillment of this prophecy in the personality of Jesus. To us he has become the Rock of Ages inspiring us with confidence by His firm unswerving obedience to the will of God and comforting our hearts by His presence and sympathy as the "Shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

THE OIL FIELDS

In response to numerous enquiries that have been received since the discovery of oil in Western Canada, the Department of the Interior at Ottawa has just published a report entitled "Oil and Gas in Western Canada."

This report contains a description of the area, a resume of the progress of development in the oil and gas fields, a synopsis of the petroleum and natural gas regulations governing the disposal of rights on Dominion lands, and information regarding provincial legislation and regulations governing the sale of shares, stocks, bonds, etc.

It is accompanied by a map of the oil regions of Western Canada showing railways and steamboat routes.

The Board of Public Utility Commissioners for the Province of Alberta, Department of Mines, and the Mining Lands and Yukon Branch of the Department of the Interior, contributed valuable statistical information which has been embodied in the preparation of this report by the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch, of the Department of the Interior.

That specific and authoritative information on the subject may now be had, and appeal to the prospector, capitalist, and student of conditions in Western Canada.

Copies of the report may be obtained free of charge from the Superintendent, Natural Resources Intelligence Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Friday, April 22nd.

Cattle.—Practically no beef in Calgary yards until Wednesday. Prices yesterday about as last week, though one lot made $7.50 and another lot a dime under that, but they were coppers, and average run about $6.75 to $7.25; good, $6.00 to $6.75; medium, $5.25 to $6.00; common, $4.50 to $5.00. Very few cows offered, tops $5.50 to $6.00; good, $4.50 to $5.25; medium, $4.00 to $4.50; common, $3.25 to $4.00; canners, $2.00 to $2.25. Top bulls $4.00. Calves scarce, choice light would bring $8.00. No heavy feeders taken out; light feeders, $5.00 or better selling better, but wider spread, $3.50 to $5.35. Stock cows weak, $3.00 to $4.50.

Competition on export steers has dropped at Edmonton, and prices on the good stuff which has ruled comparatively high, has dropped more in line with other markets. Choice steers, $7.00 to $7.75; good, $6.25 to $7.00; medium, $5.00 to $6.00; common, $4.00 to $4.50. Stee still also lower, choice cows $5.00 to $5.50; good, $4.50 to $5.50; medium, $4.00 to $4.50; common, $3.50 to $4.00; canners, $2.00 to $3.00. Oxen and bulls down 50c, with choice bulls $3.50 to $4.00. Calves slightly lower, with choice veal, $8.00 to $11.00. Stocker and feeder steers lower, $5.00 to $5.50 on feeders, and stockers $4.00 to $4.75. Stocker heifers, $4.00 to $4.50; stocker cows, $3.00 to $4.00.

Hogs.—Prices have been breaking badly at Calgary, with sales working down to $12.50 to $12.75 yesterday. Today's arrivals brought $12.50.

Hog prices at Edmonton have lined downward with other markets, and Thursday's price was $12.50; receipts larger.

Sheep.—Not many sales at Calgary during latter part of the week. Lambs, $9.50 down; wethers, $8.00 down; and ewes, $7.00 down.

Easter prices on sheep are noted at Edmonton, with lambs unchanged at $9.00 to $10.00; wethers and ewes, $7.00 to $8.00 and $5.00 to $7.00. Receipts light and not much demand for breeding ewes.

Wheat prices have recovered from last Friday's slump, due to active buying by American mills, who want grain over before tariff goes on. All grains strengthened. Many think bottom has been reached, but when U.S. mills are satisfied prospects are uncertain. Crop conditions in U.S. and Canada favorable. Alberta making a good start with new crop.

Grain.—Market quiet and little change in quotations in Calgary territory. Eggs still quoted $7.50 to $8.00; no storing yet. Creamery butter and butterfat unchanged; dairy butter little in evidence; creamery, 50c to 55c in cartons. Cheese temporarily advanced to 15c to 25c. Poultry steady, but likely to decline after next week; fowl, 25c to 23c; roasters, 18c to 19c; receipts light. Potato market very dull; jobbing at Calgary at 45c.

Eggs moving more freely in Edmonton district, and prices $7.25 to $7.50. Cream production promises to be heavy, and prices unchanged, 41c, 38c and 25c at stations. Creamery butter showing slight surplus, but prices so far steady at 55c for No. 1 cartons. Dairy butter well cleaned up; on straight receipts quotation is around 28c for good quality. Some eastern cheese bought at 25c coming west. Fowl receipts light, with prices up to 25c and some turkeys at 15c. Prospects of good run next fall.

Hay.—Prices down again; timothy, country points, $18.00 to $20.00; upland, $12.00 to $15.00; alfalfa at Lethbridge, $16.00 to $22.00; market very slow.

Hides.—Lack of any demand has forced another cut in hides, green and green salted, 2c to 3c; flint dried, 6c; horse hides, 10c to 15c each.

Furs.—Coyotes killed now of little value, prices at 0.00 to $5.00; however also reduced, $5.00 to $15.00. New York sales did not change existing values on other furs.

Wool.—Eastern wool bringing 14c to 28c on grade. No western movement yet.

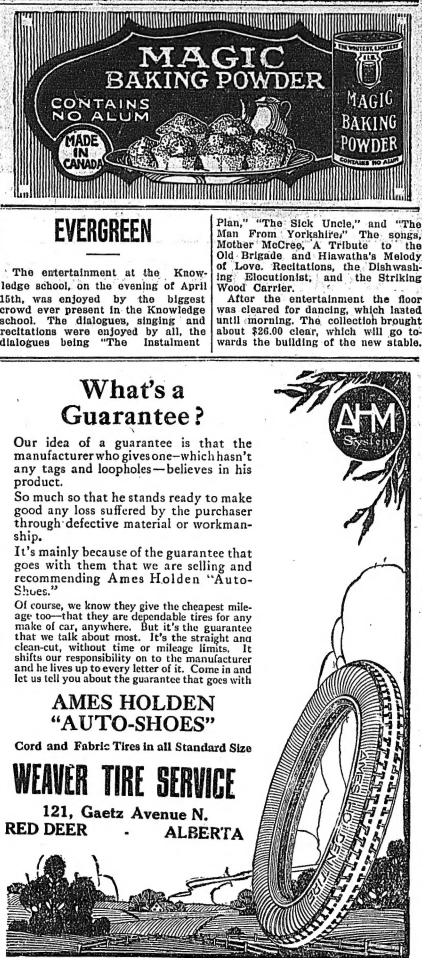

MAJORITY FOR DRYS IS NOW OVER 135,000

Later Returns From Ontario Increase Dry Vote; Prohibitionists Claim It Will Be 200,000.

Toronto, April 19.—Incomplete returns on the referendum vote from 72 out of 91 electoral districts in the province, show a "dry" majority of approximately 135,000. As first returns indicated, the rural districts went overwhelmingly in favor of the prohibition of importation. Outside the city ridings only five electoral districts so far reported are in the "wet" column, and two of these—Part William and Baily River, and Port Arthur and Kenora—have so far furnished but meagre returns from the rural sections, which are showing "dry" majorities. The others are Albion East, Temiskaming and Essex, while South Essex went dry. The whole country, with four small polls to hear from, give 606 wet majority.

CLAIMING 200,000

Dr. A. S. Grant, secretary of the Ontario referendum committee, still claims an ultimate majority of 200,000 against importation. Returns of the vote are dribbling in slowly, only about half the electorate having reported. The big snowstorm of Sunday last has caused delay in the return being made, communication having been interrupted in some of the places. The official summing up of the vote throughout the province will take place on Wednesday, May 4. After that date each side will have seven days in which to demand a recount.

The entertainment at the Knowledge school, on the evening of April 15th, was enjoyed by the biggest crowd ever present in the Knowledge school. The dialogue, singing and recitations were enjoyed by all, the dialogue being "The Installation Plan," "The Sick Uncle" and "The Man From Yorkshire." The songs, Mother McCree, A Tribute to the Old Brigade and Havatha's Melody of Love. Recitations, the Dishwashing Educationist, and the Striking Wood Carrier.

After the entertainment the floor was cleared for dancing, which lasted until morning. The collection brought about $25.00 clear, which will go towards the building of the new stable.

What's a Guarantee?

Our idea of a guarantee is that the manufacturer who gives one—which hasn't any tags and loopholes—believes in his product.

So much so that he stands ready to make good any loss suffered by the purchaser through defective material or workmanship.

It's mainly because of the guarantee that goes with them that we are selling and recommending Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes."

Of course, we know they give the cheapest mile-age too—that they are dependable tires for any make of car, anywhere. But it's the guarantee that we talk about most. It's the straight and clean-cut, without time or mileage limits. It shifts our responsibility on to the manufacturer and he lives up to every letter of it. Come in and let us tell you about the guarantee that goes with
